

ASSESSING THE EFFECTS OF NON-TARIFF MEASURES: HYPE OR HOPE?

INTERNATIONAL WORKSHOP
JULY 7 - 8, 2022
VIA SILVIO D'AMICO 77, ROME
(ITALY)

During the last 40 years, the usage of Non-Tariff Measures (NTMs) has increased rapidly both in quantity and importance. Governments adopt NTMs for various reasons: with protectionist intent or to address legitimate goals, such as protecting health or safety or the environment.

The effect of NTMs on trade is ambiguous. Some NTMs might positively impact trade, e.g. sanitary and phytosanitary (SPS) measures can contribute to quality upgrading, which could boost trade. Likewise, some technical barriers to trade (TBTs) such as labelling requirements provide additional information to consumers, potentially shaping consumption patterns and increasing trust, which might be trade-promoting. Conversely, the effect is negative for other types of NTMs, such as quotas and prohibitions, since they exert a significant restrictive and/or distortary impact on international trade.

The goal of the Workshop is to present the state of the art on the measurement and modelling issues regarding the empirical and theoretical assessment of the NTMs impact with special attention to the agri-food sector.

The Workshop is organized within the H2020 BATModel research project and hosted by the Department of Economics of Roma Tre University in Rome. Participation is free.
